www.gov.uk/apply-apprenticeship

The screenshot shows the GOV.UK website for apprenticeships. At the top, there's a navigation bar with a search field. Below it, a breadcrumb trail says 'Home > Further education and skills'. On the right, there are links to 'Subscribe to email alerts' and 'See latest changes to this content'. The main content area has a title 'Further education and skills Apprenticeships'. It's divided into two main sections: 'Be an apprentice' (with 'Traineeships' and 'Employers and training organisations') and 'Become an apprentice' (with 'Traineeships programme' and 'Employ an apprentice'). A large black arrow points from the 'Traineeships' link in the first section towards the 'Employers and training organisations' link in the second section.

You need to click on the link 'create account'

www.findapprenticeship.service.gov.uk/register

The screenshot shows the GOV.UK 'Find an apprenticeship' page. At the top, there's a navigation bar with a search field. Below it, a breadcrumb trail says 'Home > Education and learning > Apprenticeships, 14 to 19 education and training for work'. The main title is 'Find an apprenticeship'. To the right, there's a sidebar with a heading 'Apprenticeships, 14 to 19 education and training for work' and links for 'Become an apprentice', 'Find a traineeship', and 'More'. The main content area has sections for 'Create an account' (with a list of bullet points) and 'Log in to your account' (with a note about needing email and password). A large black arrow points from the 'Create an account' section towards the 'Log in to your account' section.

You will work through this form to complete your details and create a new account that looks like this:

The screenshot shows a 'Create an account' form on the GOV.UK website. It includes fields for First name, Last name, Date of birth (Day, Month, Year), and Postcode. There are sections for Contact details (Postcode search, address entry, email, mobile phone number) and Sign in details (email, password creation, password strength indicator, password confirmation, newsletter checkbox, terms and conditions checkbox, and a 'Create account' button).

! Tips

- Make sure your password is something that you can remember. Your password must be between 8 and 20 characters long and include a combination of upper and lowercase letters and a number.
- Try to use a sensible email address. Many candidates have email addresses that are very inappropriate and may put employers off.
- Always try to include a telephone number if you have got one, it is important that training providers and employers can contact you to discuss your application if they need to.
- Write down your password straight away before you forget.

Remember that you need to activate your account. You will need to go into your email account (that you used in your registration form) and you will have an email waiting for you. You need to enter a 6-character code from the email to activate your account.

You may need to check your junk mail folder as sometimes the activation email may be filtered to this folder instead of your inbox.

The screenshot shows a GOV.UK website page titled 'Find an apprenticeship'. The main heading is 'Activate your account'. Below it, a message says 'An email has been sent to Lynigan@icloud.com. It'll contain a 6-character code that you'll need to activate your account.' There is an input field for the activation code, which is currently empty. Below the input field is a 'Resend code' link. A green button labeled 'Activate account' is at the bottom. A note on the right states: 'You must activate your account within 30 days of receiving your activation code. After 30 days your account will be deleted and you'll need to register again.'

The screenshot shows the GOV.UK Find an apprenticeship website. At the top, there's a navigation bar with the GOV.UK logo, a search bar containing 'Find an apprenticeship', and user account links for 'John Brown' (Sign out, My applications, Settings). Below the header, the main title 'Find an apprenticeship' is displayed, followed by the subtitle 'Search and apply for an apprenticeship in England'. The search form includes fields for 'Keywords (optional)' (with a dropdown menu 'All'), 'Your location' (with input 'SE12 8RB'), 'Within' (dropdown '5 miles'), 'Apprenticeship level' (dropdown 'All levels'), and a 'Search' button. To the right of the search form is a 'Help' sidebar with links to 'How to search for an apprenticeship', 'Contact us', 'About apprenticeships', and 'Find a traineeship'.

! Tips

- If you are looking for inspiration try a postcode or location search to see what is in the area.

Step 2: Search

If you click on the Browse tab you can also search by sector categories. When searching by category, select the broad area of work in which you are interested in and then, if you wish, you can narrow it down to the job role by clicking on the green browse button. This will bring up the category list along with the number of sub-categories within that area of work. For example, in Business Administration and Law, job roles include Accounting, Sales and Telesales and Marketing. Don't forget to Update results when selecting specific job roles.

When you see the search results, this will include the vacancy title, the employers name, a short description about the vacancy including the closing date and a map showing you where the vacancy is and the distance it is from your selected location.

! Tips

- Check Find an apprenticeship regularly as new vacancies are posted daily. This will give you the best chance of being one of the first applicants and prevent you from missing out on a great opportunity before the closing date.

Notes

Step 2: Search

Notes

Remember that as apprenticeships involve taking job-specific and work-based industry-standard qualifications which reflect the skills and knowledge needed for a particular job, you might need to start at the same level that you have already achieved in your qualifications at Key Stage 4 or after the age of 16.

Alerts

Click on ‘Saved searches’ in your ‘Settings’. Tick the email and/or text buttons to receive alerts about new vacancies that match your saved searches. You will still need to look at your account regularly as other vacancies may appear that don’t quite match your search criteria but that may still be of interest to you.

! Tips

- If you change any of your personal details such as email address or mobile number, don’t forget to change them in Settings.
- If you see ‘There are currently no apprenticeships that match your search’, try editing your search by using different keywords, expanding your search location or by selecting a different (or ‘all’) level.

When you're ready to apply for a vacancy, click onto Apply for apprenticeship, this will take you to the application form for the vacancy selected.

Apply for apprenticeship

You will see 'your details' are automatically entered, check these are correct and if not update these in Settings. Then you will need to add:

- Your education details
 - Qualifications
 - Work experience details
 - Three about you questions
 - Two additional questions
(where employers have asked for more information)

When you have completed all sections you can then click on Preview and Submit or Save draft at the bottom of the page.

About You – What are your strengths?

This section is one of the most important parts of the Application Form that will help you to get through to interview. You need to be prepared to put in a great deal of work to get this section looking really good.

! Tips

For example, you could say something like this:

'I believe that I have extremely good communication skills. I have given presentations in front of large audiences in whole year assemblies and I have also talked in front of groups in the classroom. As a 6th form Ambassador, I have been involved in open evenings where I have spoken to groups of parents and prospective students about my experience of the 6th form. I also have excellent written communication skills and I am confident speaking on the telephone'

Or you could say something like this:

'I feel that I have very good communication skills. As a keen team member of a local football team, it is crucial that we communicate constantly when on the pitch to ensure that everyone can work together to win the game. I have been praised by the team captain for the way that I communicate effectively on the pitch, saying that I am calm, motivational and fair'

! Tips

- If you are not sure about what to write about yourself, ask a friend or teacher to list your three best qualities (see the worksheet on page 26 of this guide which will prompt you to think about some words and phrases that you could include).

Notes

Finding and using 'buzz words'

The job advert needs to be the starting point for your 'strengths' section. By reading it carefully, you can start to identify the skills and attributes that the employer is looking for.

The first place to look for the 'buzz words' is in the apprenticeship summary within the job advert. This section will contain information about the kinds of tasks that you would be expected to complete.

! Tips

- Have a look through the job advert and either print it off and circle all of the buzz words, or write them all down so that you have a checklist of the kinds of words that you could try to include in the 'About You' section of the application form.

Step 3: Apply

Notes

About you – What skills would you like to improve during this apprenticeship?

You only need to write a good paragraph of a few sentences that answer the question, but in a clever way and linked directly to the job that you are applying for. For example, if you were going for a job in the IT Industry you could say something like this:

'I would like to improve my knowledge and awareness of the latest programming techniques being used in the workplace to increase efficiency and decrease costs to the employer'

Or if you were going for a job in hairdressing you could say something like this:

'I would like to improve my knowledge of the latest cutting and colouring techniques being used within the fashion industry and how these could be adapted to suit high street fashion trends'

No

About you – What are your hobbies and interests?

Be careful about what you write in this section. You need to remember that the employer will use this section (and all of the application form) to start to create an impression of the kind of person that you are.

It is quite likely that if you are invited for interview, that the employer will use this section to help to 'break-the-ice' and make you feel more comfortable in your interview. They might start by asking you something like 'So (your name), I notice from your application form that you are interested in films. What was the last film that you saw and what did you like about it?'

Notes

Remember to think about what you write and what it says about you. For example:

Your hobby or interest	What it might make an employer think about you
I like talking to friends on BBM	'I wonder if I would need to keep an eye on this person in case they use work time to talk to friends'
I like to spend time on Facebook	'Oh good, they've got a facebook account – I can have a look and see what they're like'
I like playing football and keeping fit and healthy	'They obviously like to keep fit and healthy, I hope that means they will take less time off sick through ill-health and be a more reliable employee'
I like going out and socialising	'This person likes to party. They'll probably phone in sick every Monday'

! Tips

- Try to include hobbies or interests that are current, telling the employer that you were in the Brownies when you were 8 years old is not very current.

About you – Is there anything we can do to support your interview?

Even if you do not require any support at interview, you should never leave this box blank.

It is acceptable to write 'No thank you' or 'Not applicable' but never leave this (or any other box) blank on the application form. This is because the employer will not know if you have chosen not to answer or if you have accidentally missed it. This rule applies to every different type of job application that you may find yourself completing – not just apprenticeships.

Additional Employer Questions

With every job application that uses 'Find an apprenticeship' form, the employer is only allowed to change one thing, the rest of the form has to stay the same.

The only thing that they may change is to ask you two questions that are relevant to their job application. They will be displayed at the bottom of the application form and will look something like this:

Additional questions

What attracted you to this role?

What skills, attributes and experience do you have that make you good for this role?

Preview and submit

Save draft

You do need to answer these questions and you need to think about the job advert, the employer and what you can tell them that might make you stand out from other applicants.

You should research their company through the internet so that you can tell them something interesting about your future career plans in that industry.

Other typical 'Employer' questions that you might see could include:

- Why do you feel you are a suitable candidate for this role?
- Why are you interested in completing an apprenticeship?
- Where do you see yourself in 5 years time?
- What experience of dealing with customers do you have?
- What qualities do you think are important in this job role?
- What do you think makes the difference between a good customer experience and an excellent one?

How to apply

When you find an apprenticeship job advert that you want to apply for, you need to go to the bottom of the job advert and click on Apply for apprenticeship at the top right of the advert or at the bottom of the advert.

At this point some adverts may direct you to the employers website to apply using their own system. This is likely to be very different to the application form that this guide has explained, although all of the advice that we have given you should also help you when completing other applications.

If the employer is using the Find an apprenticeship service then you will be asked to complete the application form as described in the earlier steps.

What happens next?

What the shortlisters say...

"Good applicants have well written application forms where they have taken the time to give examples of their skills and have a good balance between academic achievement and enthusiasm for the job/industry that they are applying for"

"When we shortlist, we do look to see if the applicant has the desired GCSE results that the employer is seeking. However, this isn't the only thing that we look at. If the applicant can demonstrate that they have taken the initiative to set up and undertake work experience to add to their skills then this is sometimes enough to get them through to interview"

"Your application must be submitted on time and be free from errors. Weak applications are written in a hurry and are under-prepared"

"Avoid poor spelling, grammar and punctuation. This is critical if you want to be taken seriously in your application. Ask someone else with a good eye for detail to proofread your application before you submit it"

"Your application needs to sell you, be engaging, show your interest and enthusiasm and give an insight into your personality. Avoid humour though, this is still a professional document"

"A busy shortlister is looking for a reason to reject you as much as to offer you a place. Don't give them an excuse to put you on the 'no' pile because of a poor application"

"Your application needs to show that you have thought about why you are applying for the job"

"Remember to tailor your application for the job that you are applying for"
